Allied Bombs Hit Naples, Sicilian Airdromes

ITALY REPORTS POMPEI ALSO HIT BY BOMBS

Thousands Flee from Capital City of Sardinia To Escape Assaults from Air.

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Italy's bomb-scarred port of Naples, two Sicilian airdromes and enemy shipping off Greece came under the flail of allied warplanes in the latest assaults in the Mediterranean, it was announced today, as the axis stressed new invasion preparations against southern Europe.

Italian headquarters said allied raiders also blasted the area of Mt. Vesuvius, the famous volcano, including modern Pompei.

"Large British forces are concentrating along the southern frontier of Turkey," the Rome radio asserted, amplifying its previous assertion that many allied landing craft were massing at Pantelleria island 60 miles from Sicily.

Dispatches from Ankara said the 350-mile border between Turkey and Syria was reopened at 6 a. m. yesterday, after all traffic except allied diplomatic and military personnel has been halted for 48 hours to screen troop movements.

Cyprus Strengthened

Axis radios asserted that British and Indian reinforcements had been moved to Cyprus, 69 miles off Syria, a potential base for invasion of the Balkans, Crete or the Dodecanese islands. American troops were said to be among the Cyprus garrison.

Another enemy report said a 62-mile stretch in northern Syria along with the Lebanese coast had been declared military areas and closed to civilians.

Cyprus is the third largest island in the Mediterranean, after Sicily and Sardinia.

Meanwhile, a Rome broadcast disclosed that all except 6,000 to 7,000 inhabitants out of a normal population of 100,000 had been evacuated from Cagliari, the capital of Sardinia, to escape allied bombs.

"Civil service officials who remained in the town are bravely attending to their duties among the ruins," the broadcast said.

RAF night raiders shot up railway trains and barges in northern France. German planes, flying low over the rooftops at terrific speed, bombed a postoffice in London and killed two persons. Three others were killed in an English south coast town.

The war at-a-glance:

Invasion Jitters — Germans reported moving 1,000 concrete tank barriers daily from Maginot line to strengthen French coastal defenses; Berlin expects allied attack on Balkans and Crete.

Russia — Red armies beat off new German attacks in Orel sector; Soviet planes set 100 big fires in raids on German airdromes; Nazis report Russians massing before Orel and west of Kursk.

Southwest Pacific — Tokyo admits 29 Japanese planes lost in great sky battle over Guadalcanal; claims 32 allied planes shot down and eight ships sunk; allied

FURTHER DELAY SEEN IN DRAFTING DADS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18 — Don't be surprised if the delay in drafting fathers, now presumably put off until October, is extended again and—without official announcement—perhaps indefinitely.

For that, according to D. C. Speaker, unofficial but well-informed capital news source, is the present prospect for the nation's dads—barring unforeseen and adverse changes in the current war picture.

"There are three reasons behind that prediction," said D. C., the former District of Columbia observer who represents authentic but unquotable sources, "and the first may hurt the dads' feelings. They aren't wanted — if their sons and younger brothers are right instead.

"Second reason, of course," he continued, "is that the planned quotas now are nearly full, and the new crops of 18-year-olds are expected to supply most replacements, aided by the single and childless married men who have occupational or minor physical deferments.

"But the third reason is a com-

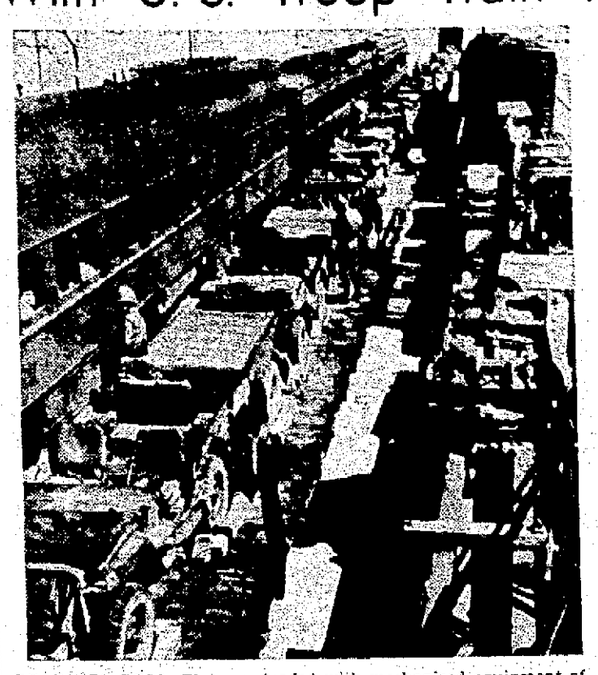
With U. S. Troop Train from Start To Destination



READY TO ROLL. Flat cars loaded with mechanized equipment of a division of U. S. troops get a final checkup before leaving a bivouac for the Arizona desert for maneuvers. All vehicles are blocked and wired down.

GUN STUDY EN ROUTE. Traveling by train to a desert maneuver area, a pullman car-load of soldiers get instruction on their Garand rifles. This train was one of several required to move a division across country.

CHOW TIME. Meal time on a U. S. troop train finds the officers served their mess on paper plates, others eating from their mess kits. Menu usually includes meat, vegetables, fruit, bread and butter, beverage and dessert.

JOURNEY'S END. At a siding on the Arizona desert this train carrying part of a division of U. S. troops is being unloaded preparatory to maneuvers. The trip was carried out under simulated combat conditions.

Meat Price Cuts Scheduled for Next Monday Announced

Reduction Averaging 10 Per Cent To Become Effective Under Government Subsidy Plan.

Starting Monday, housewives will find their meat costs reduced by an average of 10 per cent as the government's recently-announced intention to roll back the price of meat becomes a reality, office of price administration officials announced today.

The reduction Monday applies to all meat except cured and processed pork, for which the effective date of the rollback will be July 5.

The reduction in meat will be less than three cents a pound on some of the cheaper cuts and more than three cents on some of the more expensive.

Here are some examples of the new prices on grade A cuts in small retail establishments as compared with the prices now superseded:

CUT	OLD	NEW
Round Steak bone-in	47	42
Rib Roast 7-inch rib	42	36
Chuck Roast bone-in	33	29
Hamburger	32	28
Pork Chops center cut (loins under 12 pounds)	42	37
Lamb Loin chops	65	59
Veal Cutlet	51	45
Sliced Bacon	47	41

As was the case with butter which last week was rolled back to the extent of five to six cents a pound, the meat price reduction is being made without imposing its effects on the farm producer. This is made possible by the subsidy.

Basis of Subsidy

The payments to slaughterers to compensate for the price reduction will be based upon the live weight of livestock slaughtered and will be equivalent to approximately two cents a pound on the dressed carcasses, it was explained.

The subsidy became effective June 7 for slaughterers and the ceiling prices on all fresh and frozen meats were reduced at the packer level June 14. At wholesale level the prices will be reduced tomorrow, June 19, and will reach the retail level and the housewife's pocketbook Monday.

The price reduction on cured and processed pork and dried and corned beef will be required at the slaughter level on June 28 and for the wholesaler and retailer on July 5.

The new prices have been printed on posters which are being distributed to retailers throughout Ohio. A requirement of the regulation is that the meat merchant post the prices where they are clearly visible by the housewife.

In the lists that follow, prices are given for the most popular meat cuts for independent stores. Prices for chain stores are slightly lower.

In the following list, three price figures are given for most cuts of meat. The first one listed is for AA or choice grade meat. The second is for A or good grade and the third for B or commercial grade.

NIGHT SWIM AT GALION FATAL

Robert Sargel Drowned, Soldier at Bucyrus Camp Rescued at Reservoir.

Special to The Star

GALION, June 18 — Robert Sterling Sargel, 25, of 745 Harding Way West in Galion was drowned in the Big Four reservoir here about 2 o'clock this morning and a soldier, Sgt. Louis Shoemaker of Camp Millard, Bucyrus, barely escaped drowning in the same reservoir.

Sargel and Shoemaker were swimming in the reservoir with two other soldiers and three girls, Galion police said. The other soldiers were listed as Sgt. Joseph Fothenot and Sgt. Ralph McPherson, both of Camp Millard. Another woman also of Galion was on the reservoir bank at the time of the drowning, police said.

Police Called at 2:30 a. m.

Galion city police were called to the reservoir at 2:30 by an employe of the Municipal Light and Power plant of Galion which is near the reservoir. The police report that detailed circumstances of the drowning had not yet been learned and that they are still investigating.

Dr. O. R. Kackley, Crawford county coroner, pronounced the cause of the death as accidental drowning.

Police arrived at the reservoir about 2:30 with a pulmotor. At that time the two other soldiers were using artificial respiration on Sgt. Shoemaker on the bank. The body of Sargel had not yet been found. He had been missing for about 20 minutes, his companions reported.

Soldier Revived

With the use of the pulmotor together with the prompt action of the two soldiers, Shoemaker was revived and any danger of death from drowning was removed.

A Galion fire department truck arrived at the scene of the drowning shortly after the police arrived. They immediately started a search in a boat for Sargel's body. It was found about 3:45.

Sargel's body was fished out of water about 15 feet deep. The three girls from Bucyrus who were accompanying Sargel and the three soldiers were sitting on the bank at the time of the drowning, as was the older Galion woman, police were told.

Filling Station Worker

Sargel was the son of Charles Henry Sargel of Park avenue in Galion. His mother was the late Ethel Trimble Sargel of Galion. Also surviving are a step-mother, wife with his father, lives in Galion, a sister, Mrs. W. L. Lindsey of Stark, Fla., a brother, Charles Sargel Jr. of northwest of Galion, and two step-sisters, Mrs. George Lynn and Jean Ulmer, both of Galion.

Sargel was a member of the Eagles lodge of Galion. For the past year he has been employed at the Thompson service station of Galion, near his home.

GAS RATION SENTENCE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 18 — Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed sentenced Nathan Rosenberg, 28, of Cleveland, to six months in Milan, Mich., reformatory on Rosenberg's of guilty to a charge of having 67 A gasoline ration coupons in his possession illegally.

APPROPRIATION TOTAL LARGEST EVER PREPARED

Boosts War Dept. Outlay to Nearly 200 Billions; Called the "Decisive Budget."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18—The house appropriations committee fired a financial broadside at the axis today, sending to the floor a $71,519,438,873 war department supply bill to equip and maintain an Army of 7,500,000 enlisted men and blacken enemy skies with warplanes by the end of the year.

Largest appropriation bill in history, it boosted to almost $200,000,000,000 the war department's funds since July 1, 1940, and to an estimated $400,000,000,000 the outlay for defense and war purposes since that date. And all the money carried in the bill, Army officials said, will be spent or obligated during the 12 months starting July 1.

"The decisive budget" was the label given the measure by Lieut. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, deputy chief of staff, during hearings on the bill.

3 Times First War Cost

Commenting that the bill carried more than three times the total outlay of the war department during the entire first World war, the committee said it was "determined that the armed forces shall have every dollar essential for the early attainment of an unconditional surrender by all of the axis powers."

It shaved only $387,988,827 from budget estimates, and left untouched the $23,655,481,000 estimate for the air corps.

"The cost is frightful," the committee observed. "Global warfare and modern implementation is the answer . . . guns, tanks, airplanes, ammunition, chemicals and war munitions of every kind and description are provided for in accordance with the department's recommendations."

Purposes of Funds

The funds provided—$59,037,599,673 in new appropriations and $12,472,839,200 of previous funds continued available—will, General McNarney told the committee, do this:

Provide a fighting air force of 273 groups and 3,000,000 ground troops, 36,000 bombers, 38,000 fighters, 12,000 transport planes and 9,000 training planes, with spare engines and parts to keep them in action;

Furnish combat divisions with enough ammunition, tanks, small arms, cannon, combat vehicles and other equipment "to enable us to come to grips with and destroy the enemy;"

Permit the maintenance of more than 900 airfields, 4,500 army posts, and 700,000 hospital beds, and provide for intera-

C. E. DANNER NAMED COUNTY BOND CHAMP

Wins Title for May; Kenton Woman Also Honored.

In recognition of his part in the "Buy a Bomber" campaign conducted in a countywide drive last month, Carl E. Danner of 664 Girard avenue has been named by the local war bond committee as Marion county's man of the month for May.

Announcement of his selection was made today by state war bond headquarters in Cleveland.

In honor of his recognition as top worker in Marion county's May bond drive, Mr. Danner will receive a special "Minute Man" citation provided by the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio in the interest of the war savings program.

Mr. Danner served as chairman of the "Buy a Bomber" drive which set out to sell $325,000 worth of E bonds and actually sold more than $500,000 in a month-long canvass of the county.

In connection with the announcement of Mr. Danner's selection as Marion county war bond champion, it was also announced that Mrs. Zelma Honiz of Kenton has been selected as one of the nine outstanding war bond bond workers in Ohio and will be honored at a dinner at the Shawnee hotel in Springfield June 25. The nine represent regional divisions of the state. She will receive an honor medal and a $25 war bond.

Selected as the outstanding bond champion for May of Division 6 which includes Marion county is Edward Hasonbrink, principal of Bellevue High school, who instituted a savings plan among students which in 18 weeks netted an average of $62.43 per pupil.

Axis Invasion Jitters Mount; Berlin Brags About Defenses

Meanwhile, Goebbels Orders "Our Noisy Critics" Silenced; British Forces Near Turkey Increasing.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 18 — Invasion-conscious axis broadcasters continued today to talk about great concentrations of allied forces in the Mediterranean area and glibly bragged about their own plans to repel any landing attempts.

At the same time, in a statement possibly reflecting growing German dissatisfaction with recent war events, Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels ordered "our noisy critics" to keep quiet.

The Rome radio, which previously had told listeners of "many landing craft concentrating from African coasts toward Pantelleria," declared in a post-midnight report recorded by Reuters that "large British forces are concentrating along the southern frontier of Turkey."

Allied Sources Silent

Allied sources, understandably silent about the next major move, have no confirmation of this report, which presumably was Italy's interpretation of the closing this week of the Syrian-Turkish border.

Dispatches from Ankara said the frontier was reopened yesterday morning by the British, who for 48 hours had stopped all traffic except allied diplomatic and military personnel.

The Rome radio reported, however, that a 62-mile stretch in northern Syria as well as the coastal area of Lebanon had been declared military areas by the British and had been closed to all traffic and to civilians.

Berlin, taking note of a possible allied lunge from that quarter, reported in a broadcast heard by The Associated Press that Premier-Gen. Nuri Pasheas Said of Iraq had informed his troops of an approaching "hour of decision and active service."

Goebbels' admonition to Nazi critics to keep their objections to themselves was relayed by the Rome radio in a broadcast recorded by the ministry of information. He was quoted as writing in an article in Das Reich:

"Silence above all should be observed by our noisy critics. In this world no one is infallible and this applies equally well to the government and chiefs of staff who are just as liable to make mistakes as anyone else."

PHONES IN MARION AREA NUMBER 10,000

Local Office Reports 30 Orders Now Incomplete.

A. F. Carlisle, vice president and general manager of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co., said today that approximately 10,000 telephones are in service in the Marion area today, which is approximately 600 more than were in service this time last year.

Mr. Carlisle also estimated that the company has 30 incomplete orders at this time, a decrease from approximately 100 incomplete orders a year ago. Around 528 phones have been denied people, he said, due to restrictions placed on installations by the war production board.

Besides Marion, the company operates exchanges in Green Camp, Hargater, LaRue, Morral, Nevada, Prospect, Richwood and Waldo.

The Ohio Bell Telephone company has calculated that for every 86 persons with telephones in war-busy Dayton, another person is unable to obtain a receiver and must await his turn for present facilities, according to an Associated Press report.

In Akron, another buzzing Ohio war center, the ratio is about 90 to one. Ohio Bell made these figures public in explaining why telephones cannot be installed as fast as people desire them.

The situation is less stringent in some other cities. While there are 1,000 "hold orders" in Dayton against 31,500 telephones now in service, and 1,000 in Akron compared with 90,000 telephones, the Cleveland figure is only 2,100 against 352,000; Canton, 220 against 33,500 and Youngstown, 110 against 46,000.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CRAWFORD CO. DIES

Mrs. Blanche Harvey Stricken at Long Beach, Calif.

Mrs N. W. Llewellyn of 1111 East Center street has received word that her aunt, Mrs. Blanche Martin Harvey, died June 15 of a heart attack at her home at Long Beach, Calif.

Born March 21, 1877 in Dallas, Crawford county, she was the daughter of Henry and Elizabeth Miller Martin. Her father was a native of Plymouth and her mother of Waldo. She was married to Dr. Edward R. Harvey September, 1898. He preceded her in death several years ago.

A member of the Scioto Chapel Methodist church in Crawford county, Mrs. Harvey moved to California soon after her husband was graduated from the Cincinnati Medical college.

Mrs. Harvey is survived by two sons, Neil at home, Dr. Edward R., in the service, a daughter, Mrs. Charles Ward of Long Beach, a brother, Charles Martin of Wyandot, three grandchildren and nieces and nephews of Marion and vicinity.

Poll Shows Big Majority of Voters Condemn Lewis

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 17—Americans have strong opinions about John L. Lewis and most of them are outspoken.

A national survey of the Institute finds that [illegible] voters who [illegible] wholeheartedly in favor of [illegible] there was nearly [illegible] who condemned [illegible] and policies.

In no public opinion [illegible] ever conducted [illegible] the Institute encountered [illegible] harsh language from Americans as they use in giving their opinions of Mr. Lewis. Some had difficulty expressing their views because what first came to their minds was, they said, unprintable.

National opinion on the mine union leader was sounded by a corps of 182 interviewers for the Institute. These interviewers talked to laborers, farmers, white collar workers, housewives—people in all walks of life in all sections of the country selected in such a way as to reflect accurately the views of the whole nation.

Each person was asked:

"What is your opinion of John L. Lewis?"

The replies were taken down verbatim. When analyzed they answered the following totals:

9% had favorable opinions.
87% had unfavorable opinions.
4% had no opinion.

A few (7 per cent) of those with unfavorable opinions said they thought that Mr. Lewis is a good labor leader, but that they disapprove of his recent conduct in the coal labor crisis.

There can be no question that Lewis holds the respect of some industrial workers. They admire him for fighting the battles of the workingman, for improving working conditions, and for giving labor a powerful voice in national affairs. Such comments as "he's taking care of the laboring classes," "he stands behind the working people," and "he's loyal to his followers and wouldn't sell them out" are typical of that point of view.

It is an attitude not shared, however, by the great majority of the country. Their views are exemplified by these sample comments:

"Shoot him. He's a d - - d flannel mouth."

"Lewis is America's number one traitor."

"He's a terrible obstacle to our all-out effort to win the war."

"He's responsible for more sabotage than anyone else in the country."

"Rule or ruin — that's Lewis. Jail is the place for him."

"Try him for treason."

"He's a sore-head, and a dirty, treacherous scoundrel."

"Give him to Germany. That's where he belongs."

It is interesting to note that the American people were calling Mr. Lewis criminal and traitor before the Connally-Smith bill, officially making it a crime to foment strikes in government-held plants, was passed by Congress.

If national opinion toward Mr. Lewis continues as it is today, it will undoubtedly affect his political power in 1944 and may even have repercussions on the labor leader after the war.

Both friends and foes of organized labor have been saying that it was public rage over Mr. Lewis' actions in the coal crisis which led to the passage of the Connally-Smith bill. Public opinion studies here found, however, that an overwhelming sentiment for regulating labor unions existed for a number of years before the coal crisis—stretching back, in fact, to the time of the sit-down strikes of 1937.

OPA Checking Chaplin's Wedding Trip Gasoline

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, June 18—The office of price administration is taking an interest in Charlie Chaplin's marriage, it disclosed yesterday, but not in its romantic aspects.

Samuel L. Leask Jr., Southern California OPA administrator, said his operatives were trying to determine where Charlie got the gasoline for his trip to Santa Barbara yesterday to marry Miss Oona O'Neill, daughter of playwright Eugene O'Neill.

Leask said also he was interested in unverified reports that at one time Chaplin's car sped 80 miles an hour as the actor eluded newsmen.

He also spoke on the type of work and amount of hours allowed for women. A discussion period followed. Club guests were R. Knorr, divisional car foreman of Marion-Kent division of Erie railroad, Harry L. Ramer of Marion and Lt. John Ramer of the Army Air Corps.

Federal Payroll Trebled Since First World War

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18—The government payroll has more than tripled since the first World war and could get along with 300,000 fewer employes, a congressional committee has concluded.

Despite this, some government agencies said they didn't have enough employes to get together promptly reports asked by the joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures, Chairman Byrd, Democrat of Virginia said in a report to President Roosevelt and congress.

Senator Byrd said federal civilian personnel rose from 917,760 persons on the last day of the first World war, Nov. 11, 1918, to 3,008,519 last April. The payroll jumped in the past three years from $141,522,234 to $552,700,300 monthly.

Five Per Cent Cut in Newsprint Possible

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18.—A 5 per cent cut in newsprint appeared possible today.

The war production board's (WPB) newspaper industry advisory committee was called to a meeting here at which it was expected such a reduction in the paper used by the nation's newspapers—perhaps effective July 1—would be considered.

At the same time, according to indications of the American Newspaper Publishers association, it might be found necessary to reduce the newspapers' present inventory limit of 75 days to 30.

Army Depot Head Promoted

Shaffer Advanced to Rank of Colonel; Has Served in Two Wars.

COL. C. B. SHAFFER

Good showing of the Marion Engineer Depot, a vital link in the country's supply line to U. S. troops scattered over the face of the earth, has resulted in promotion of the depot's commanding officer, C. B. Shaffer, from lieutenant colonel to colonel.

Col. Shaffer, placed in charge of the Marion Engineer Depot while construction was yet in progress, has guided development of the depot to a point where it is now one of the most complete land active units in the engineer supply service.

His military experience spans a period of 20 years during which he has served with both the infantry and the engineers. In the Mexican border dispute, 1916-1917, he was with the Fifth Maryland Infantry and in the first World war he was with the 307th Engineer combat regiment of the 82nd division.

Immediately after the armistice he was appointed superintendent of roads of a section of France which had its headquarters at Bordeaux. He served in this capacity for nearly a year before returning to this country.

Heads Construction Work

Returning to civilian life he became associated with the Barret Co. of New York City and in 1920 returned to France as foreign technical representative of this firm. One of the principal projects completed under his supervision was the construction of several miles of test road for the French department of roads and bridges. Used on this project was the first bituminous road material ever imported into Europe from the United States.

After a year in France he returned to this country and became affiliated with the Coppers Co. He continued with this company until five years before the outbreak of the present conflict when he became associated with the Pittsburgh Coke & Iron Co.

Reenters Army Service

Last July he reentered the service and until Sept. 24, when he was placed in charge of the depot here, he was stationed at the Columbus general depot. His first assignment upon returning to the service was with the engineer supply section at the huge Columbus supply center. Later he was transferred to the depot's general headquarters.

During his service in the engineer section of the active reserve corps Col. Shaffer has been on duty in the office of the assistant secretary of war, attended the Army industrial college and three times attended the engineer school at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Transfer Not Likely

While many Army promotions bring changes of assignments, Col. Shaffer's recent advancement is not expected to result in his transfer because it is understood that the depot is sufficiently important to rate a colonel as commanding officer.

Col. Shaffer's civilian interests, outside of the field of engineering, include operation of a large stock farm in York county, Pennsylvania. For many years he has been one of the leading exhibitors of pure bred swine at a number of the less state fairs in the east.

His property, Deer Head Manor Farm, is recognized throughout Pennsylvania and adjoining eastern states as one of the leading breeders of both Berkshire and Chester White swine. Several times he has shown the leading blue ribbon winners at the annual Pennsylvania farm show, held in January, as well as at various other eastern stock shows.

ENGINEERS HEAR TALK BY NAVAL RECRUITER

Urges Aid In Enlisting Men for Seabees.

Chief Petty Officer John J. Dugan gave a talk on the work of the Navy Society of Professional Engineers Tuesday evening at Hotel Harding. He outlined the many phases of the work and the many types of skills needed. The engineers were interested in the detailed explanation of the importance of the work and its place in the Navy's program.

Mr. Dugan said that the engineers, as supervisors, could help the Navy if they told the men of their acquaintance of draft age and with useful skills the story of the Seabees. The young men could continue in their present skills and earn more money while giving their greatest effort to the war.

FINAL SESSION HELD BY VACATION SCHOOL

Enrollment of 100 Registered by Salvation Army.

The Salvation Army vacation Bible school, conducted by Major Joseph Heard, closes today with an enrollment of 100. Major Heard reported that there was an average daily attendance of 60 members. Rev. and Mrs. Marvin Lewis were in charge of the daily Bible teaching and were assisted by Miss Pearl Tuttle, Mrs. Lewis, Lt. Betty Lou Guckert, Mrs. Heard and Mrs. Lillian Loper.

The children's work will be displayed this evening at 7:30 and diplomas will be awarded to all who have satisfactorily completed their work. Rev. Marvin Lewis will be the speaker.

A picnic for the school and the Salvation Army Sunday school will be held Thursday.

A meeting Sunday at 7:45 p. m. at the Citadel will conclude the special revival meetings which have been conducted by Rev. Marvin Lewis. A cordial invitation to attend is extended to the public.

UNION VOTES TO SEND PROTEST TELEGRAMS

Objects To "Ware Rollback" Statement of O'Neal.

It was voted to send a telegram to President Roosevelt, asking him to veto the Smith-Connolly bill, and one to E. A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, protesting O'Neal's recent statement that "if any rollback is to be made it ought to be made a rollback of wages instead of prices," at a meeting of Roosevelt Lodge No. 1281, I. A. M., last night in the Union Labor hall. Howard Travis, president, presided for the meeting.

A class of 52 candidates was obligated. Reports from various groups were given. A report from the Defiance Pressed Steel Co. included the company's new policy in which all employes not absent or late during a preceding pay period share in a war bond drawing, and a representative of the Huber Mfg. Co. employes stated the company was giving its employes a week's vacation with pay. General reports were given from the Osgood Co., General Excavator, Marion Metal Products, Wilson Bohannan Co. and Arro-Expansion Bolt Co.

E. J. Hollandshead was re-elected on the board of trustees. Frank Herring, representing a cigaret company, talked on establishment of a fund to send cigarets direct to union members in the armed forces.

BOMBS FORCE NAZIS TO RATION TRANSPORTATION

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, June 18—The Germans are rationing trolley and bus transportation in most of their industrial cities as a result of heavy damage from allied aerial bombardments, Berlin dispatches reported today as new raids revived Nazi talk of large-scale retaliation against Britain.

The Germans were said to be "spreading" available equipment by shifting it from one town to another, resulting in such a shortage that rationing of passengers is necessary, especially at peak periods.

During the morning and evening only soldiers and people with war plant employment cards may use trolleys and buses, the dispatches said. Children must walk to and from school.

The Ruhr was said to be affected worse than other districts.

Heavy raids on this area in the past 10 days have prompted Berlin sources to threaten again that "it is only a question of time" when the Nazi air force will retaliate," the Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet reported.

"Then the German air force will go back to England stronger than before, with new types of

CHORAL SOCIETY GIVES DINNER MEETING PROGRAM

Steam Shovel Co. Group Entertained at Hotel Harding.

D. J. Shelton, president and general manager of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. gave a short talk at a dinner given for the Marion Steam Shovel Choral society last night at Hotel Harding.

The chorus presented a program which included special numbers by a trio composed of Misses Dorothy Stephenson, Edema Koenig and Mrs. Margaret Clevenger. Herman Wohlslag rendered a solo and Miss Rose Marie Rizzo sang "Italian Street Song," assisted by the chorus. Contests and games were played.

Officers of the choral society are: I. D. Dutt, president; Henry Ruhl, vice president; Mrs. Edna Ginder, secretary-treasurer; Merle Lashey, director; Howard Orr, assistant director, and Mrs. Elizabeth Curren, pianist.

The next broadcast of the chorus will be Sunday afternoon, June 27, over WMRN from 4 to 4:30 p. m.

Marion Represented In Girl Reserve Camps

Four Harding High school girls and six girls from Central, Vernon Heights and Thomas A. Edison Junior High schools are representing Marion schools this year at Girl Reserve camps held at Camp Pittenger near McCutchenville and Camp Wildwood near Columbus.

The Camp Wildwood session started last Monday and will continue for the next week. The Camp Pittenger session will be held about the middle of next month.

LUNCHEON MEETING

Mrs. Frank M. Foster of 396 East Church street was hostess when Circle No. 6 of the General Aid society of the First Presbyterian church met yesterday afternoon. A covered dish luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at small tables centered with low bowls of yellow, blue and white flowers. For the program Mrs. J. H. Andrews conducted the devotions on "Charity," and Mrs. L. E. Cookston talked on Rome during the Bible times, in keeping with the year's study of important cities of the Bible. A roundtable discussion followed. Mrs. Earl N. Hale sang a group of three numbers. During the luncheon Mrs. Walter S. Guthrie served a birthday cake decorated in her honor and Mrs. French Crow, president of the General Aid society, was presented a corsage in honor of her birthday anniversary. Guests included Mrs. Crow, Mrs. Karl W. Schell, first vice president, and Mrs. George Fies, financial chairman of the General Aid society, Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Glenmore Hawkins.

Arabs Pay Good Price for U.S. Army Underwear

ERIE REVENUES AT NEW PEAK IN MAY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 18 — Erie railroad operating revenues for May were $13,627,140, which President R. E. Woodruff described today as the largest for any month in the road's history. That compared with $11,542,133 for the same month of 1942.

This May's net income was $1,342,683 against $1,305,398, bringing the five-month net to $5,190,633 on gross of $63,744,798, against $5,017,884 on $51,962,353 gross.

Woodruff told directors that passenger traffic was up 29 per cent in May and freight traffic 17.9 per cent over the same month last year. For the first five months this year, passenger traffic was up 39 per cent and freight traffic 22 per cent, compared with the corresponding period of 1942.

WEEK-END MEETING TO BE HELD AT CAMP

Scouters To Discuss Plans for Camping Season.

Final plans for the Harding area Boy Scout camping season will be made at a week-end conference of all area Scouters at Camp John A. Owens south of Marion, tomorrow night and Sunday.

B. M. Miller, area Scout commissioner, and Hugh Hay, area executive, are in charge of arrangements for the conference.

One of the main topics of discussion at the conference will concern Boy Scout participation in the victory food program. Already many area scouts have aided farmers in planting crops and detasseling corn.

The camp program for this summer will be set up at the conference which will begin tomorrow evening and last most of Sunday morning. Scouters will stop at the camp over Saturday night.

A general inspection of the camp will be made by the Scouters under the supervision of Mr. Hay.

VAGUE HINTS GIVEN OF MORE RATIONING

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18—Hints (very vague) of new rationing, disclosure of forthcoming tighter gasoline restrictions in the midwest, and a warning by a senate leader against too much drain on the domestic economy illustrated today growing attention in the capital to the problems of civilians.

The office of price administration (OPA) asked for funds against the contingency of six more rationing programs. OPA insisted it simply was guarding against any eventuality and that no immediate steps were in prospects. But that one fact alone—the financial request — started speculation whether milk, a few other foods or beverages, clothing, coal or electricity were possibilities.

From Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee came a warning that "we can lose the war through extravagance and waste" and "unnecessary" spending by the Army and Navy should be eliminated. He said also government personnel should be reduced.

Reports Living Costs Still Move Upward

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins estimated today that the cost of living rose another .8 per cent from mid-April to mid-May, bringing the average cost of living for city workers to a level 7.8 per cent above a year ago and 24.1 per cent above January, 1941.

The jump, as usual, was mostly in food, particularly fresh fruits and vegetables from the 1943 crop just coming to market.

In the month ended May 15, food costs increased 1.7 per cent. National food prices on May 15 were 17 per cent higher than a year ago.

Work for Willing Hands

APPROXIMATELY three billion dollars, the sum recommended by the house appropriations committee for continuing the work of 18 federal war agencies, happens to be just about twice the expenditures of the whole federal establishment in 1917, but there is no proper basis of comparison.

The appropriations committee, explaining its recommendation, has high praise for the war agencies, some of which—office of scientific research, office of strategic services, board of economic warfare, war relocation authority—are virtually unknown to the public at large, despite their activities. Each of them, in its way, is contributing its share to the war effort. Each of them would like to have more money than it will obtain; many of them have been recommended for smaller appropriations than requested.

In a larger sense there can be no doubt that each of the agencies is indispensable in the opinion of many authorities, or it would not be in existence. Certainly, each agency is indispensable in the opinion of its own members, that being one of the fixed rules of public agencies. There is never any lack of work for willing hands where public money is available. As President Roosevelt once said when congressional hecklers were trying to pare the federal budget—a long time ago—every federal function is vital.

The fact is, however, that some of the functions then considered vital are no longer vital and have been discontinued. WPA, CCC, NYA, all essential in their time, proved subject to change and the impulse to economize. The 18 new agencies that are asking for three billion dollars next fiscal year will not all survive, which is something to think about as income tax payments and all other tax payments become more onerous.

News Is Where You Find It

IN THE argument between certain congressional critics of the office of war information and Elmer Davis, its director, over his observation in a public speech that Washington correspondents are giving too much attention to capital bickering and not enough to the nation's production record, all the parties concerned are missing the point.

The news in Washington these days is the contest for public power—the "Battle of Washington." It is being fought blow by blow between government agencies. The blows are being reported and analyzed by trained, conscientious reporters on the scene; that is their job. News is where you find it, and they are in the midst of a contest that is making history.

The same reporters, if transplanted from Washington into the production centers of the United States, would tackle the news in those centers with the same vigor—the news of unprecedented war production. But they wouldn't get to first base with their efforts for the simple reason that the on-the-spot news in war production centers is subject to wartime censorship. It is surrounded with so many restrictions imposed by the government that the story cannot be told as it develops, and by the time it has been processed by the statisticians and finally made available as a government handout it is so much cold potatoes.

Whenever Mr. Davis wants the war production story told as news, all he needs to do is give the newspapers of the United States a green light.

The Future Is Tomorrow

IN Donald M. Nelson's formal report on war production for this year and last, he speculates that the 1942 war production performance may be called a "miraculous achievement" by historians. But along with the miraculous aspects were some others that Mr. Nelson didn't like.

He speaks of the slowness with which some objectives were developed, failure to develop promptly the tight and well coordinated controls over resources that obviously were going to be needed," the somewhat chaotic and prodigal way in which the programs (of production) were translated into specific assignments to the industrial system"—all emphasizing the vital importance of looking ahead and planning the use of resources in peacetime.

The best possible answer to those who object to post-war planning, and some of the objectors seem to feel that the whole business is just a field day for half-baked theorists, is the experience which the United States has had with insufficient planning for the great emergency of war. The planning that was done—and objections sometimes were raised against it too—didn't begin to be enough. The United States is winning victory at a terrible cost because too many things had to be done the most expensive way, instead of the least expensive way. If it drifted into peace, as it did in 1918, without having foreseen the necessities and possibilities, chaos and prodigality again would be the rule—and the United States cannot afford it.

News Behind the News

Considerable Comment Voiced in Official Circle Protesting Supreme Court Reversals.

By PAUL MALLON

W[illegible], June 17—The [illegible] turning [illegible] seem [illegible] deep [illegible] [illegible] which has [illegible] by the mind [illegible] [illegible] caused [illegible] [illegible] on the legal [illegible] Now it is getting [illegible]

[illegible] have supported [illegible] [illegible] and had [illegible] [illegible] real application of [illegible] [illegible] thought [illegible] Justice Byrnes proposal [illegible] been meted out [illegible].

On some legally confusing occasions, the court has ruled that what should be justice a short time ago is no longer constitutional, and the opposite is.

For [illegible] Pierce school case in 1925, a unit of 18 to 1) school children could be required to salute the flag, but, in a West Virginia case, it reversed itself (6 to 3) and decreed the opposite.

It has unrelentingly held racketeering is a crime for all citizens unless they belong to a labor union, and has now (May 10) given the federal communications commission the right to determine the contents of radio programs (possibly also of what goes over wires to newspapers).

Frequently, it has denied petitions for reviews and then, on a rehearing petition, reversed itself and granted reviews.

The only explanation is that this 7 to 2 New Deal court is volatile and changeable. Apparently, some justices will even vote one way in conference and then, on reflection, change sides.

The other day in a narcotics case, the written opinion announced dissents by two justices. But when reporters inquired for the dissenting opinions, they were informed no dissents had been filed.

The court may have been reformed politically, but legally, it is now more in need of reform than before.

Patronage

The McKellar bill whopped its way fast through the senate upon the wings of expectation that it would break up the Frankfurter-Mrs. Roosevelt-Hopkins monopoly over New Deal patronage, but it is not likely to bring that result at this session.

For one thing, the bill must now pass the house, and the house members were left entirely out of the McKellar plan of awarding good governmental jobs ($10,000 to $30,000 a year). The bill requires senate confirmation of each appointee.

In practice, it would therefore cause Mr. Roosevelt to ascertain whether appointees are acceptable to senators from the same locality as the appointees. The whole senate would be given the opportunity to turn down appointees whose chief claim to fame and experience is a Harvard law degree, or a career of working in some social service.

Also, such officials now holding jobs would hereafter have to be more polite to senators and refrain from arousing their ire in any matter of governmental policy. There would be the practical effects of the legislation.

General feeling against the typical New Dealer in office is stronger in the house than in the senate, but the chances of the bill passing the lower chamber are obviously impeded by the senate assumption of authority in this patronage matter for itself. The house would get none of the gravy. This naturally lessens its interest in the McKellar reform.

A fair, objective analysis would insist that Mr. Roosevelt's fears that the bill would break down the civil service system are unfounded, as it specifically is not to apply to any civil service appointee or any one in the White House or FBI.

From the standpoint of altruism, a standpoint from which no one on any side around here is looking at the proposal, the bill might not make appointments any better, but it would certainly make them different.

Basically, it would just give the senators' friends a chance, which now is exclusively restricted to Roosevelt's friends. The friends of senators might not be much more astute, but they certainly would wear a different school tie.

More important, Mr. Roosevelt would veto the bill, and it could not pass over a veto in either house. Thus the existing patronage situation will no doubt continue to the end of time or Roosevelt, whichever occurs first.

Fred Vinson's Background

By Jack Stinnett

Washington Correspondent

EVERY time the Roosevelt administration reshuffles the cards (and not since the appointment of Secretaries of War Stimson and Navy Knox has it done much more than that) the question is where in the wartime deck will the next honors show up.

When the President established the office of war mobilization, it was conceded here that it was no more than reshuffle of the same old deck—with one possible exception. That exception was of course, Justice Fred M. Vinson, of the District of Columbia court of appeals. "Why Vinson?" asked a lot of observers. The answer is easy.

Vinson, as a member of the special court to hear price-fixing appeals (he was appointed by Chief Justice Stone) made judicial history with his opinion holding that a Brooklyn bank couldn't up the rental of safety deposit boxes.

Although he admitted that the price control act was "a breath-taking legislative departure from our peacetime economic policy," he bowed to the letter of the law. He went further. He admitted that the rental on safety deposit boxes was "a milligramic weight" in the balance of the cost of living, but he opined that only by holding down these "minute quanta" could the catastrophe of inflation be averted.

That opinion alone was enough to endear him to the administration and earn him the appointment of director of economic stabilization. If his predecessor, James F. Byrnes, is right (and Byrnes certainly had a hand in drawing up the OWM executive order), Vinson's job will continue to be one of a court of appeals in all matters affecting the nation's home-front economics.

IN THE days that come and the developments that come in congress and in OWM, there are some things to remember about Fred M. Vinson. When he resigned from the house of representatives in 1938 to accept the post on the district appeals court(which some jurists consider second only to the U. S. supreme court in prestige and authority), he was chairman of the house ways and means subcommittee handling taxation.

Although it is customary in both houses of congress to give departing members a lacy ovation, the one handed Vinson was close to tops. It was climaxed when the late Speaker Bankhead stepped down from the dais to tell the house that Vinson had the keenest analytical mind that it had ever been his experience to come in contact with. Vinson knows the house, the senate—and taxation.

Although he is almost painfully serious, there is nothing standoffish or unapproachable about him.

He is almost vicious in his attack on work. Whenever he gets started on a vexing problem, meals, sleep, recreation (mostly bridge) and social contacts go by the board. Perhaps this is habit. When he was a student at Centre college, Danville, Ky., he was college librarian, student instructor, star shortstop on the baseball team, quarterback on the football team and the school's pride and joy in mathematics and Latin.

He is a 53-year-old native of Louisa, Ky., and his political rise was more or less routine. He was city attorney, commonwealth (district) attorney, member of the house of representatives.

Keeping Hogs Alive

COLUMBUS -- Meat supplies are too small to satisfy the demands of the Army, lend-lease, and civilians, and the supply of grains to produce more meat is too small to suit livestock producers, so Howard Davison, animal husbandry specialist, Ohio State university, advises all farmers to remember that one 220-pound hog killed by cholera or by overheating on the way to market means the loss of about 150 pounds of meat and 990 pounds of feed.

Death losses of swine cost plenty of feed no matter at what stage of growth they occur. Pigs dead at birth each represent 140 pounds of feed lost, and the loss grows to 260 pounds if the pig dies at weaning time. Between the 10th and 27th weeks of life, the pig will consume another 340 pounds of feed, and the final fattening period requires 390 more pounds.

Good range and plenty of clean water will hold down death losses of young pigs. Cholera can be prevented by vaccination, and careful handling in loading, protection from the sun, and water thrown on the hogs and bedding will keep fat hogs alive until they get to market.

Daily Bible Thought

Don't worship a golden calf of wealth, material comfort, social prominence. All this surely turns to ashes in the end. It makes a poor drink. And he took the calf which they had made and burnt it in fire, and ground it to powder, and strewed it upon the water, and made the children of Israel drink it.—Ex. 32:20.

CAMP McCAIN, Miss. — Four bagpipes — preferably puncture-proof—are wanted by a new combat drum and bugle corps which will follow the 345th Infantry into overseas areas.

Already equipped with 30 bugles and 18 drums, the corps makes it plain there must be bagpipes, too. Members admit they want their battle music to include the pipes even if the 345th has to turn to the famous British Eighth Army Band for them.

Sicily Now To Change Hands Again

Mediterranean Island a Traditional Pawn of War Makers.

THE stirring of historic ashes in the fought-over lands and islands of the Mediterranean now is destined to reach Sicily. If modern men needed to be reminded that attacks and counter-attacks have been the rule rather than the exception down through the years, Sicily would make an excellent example.

Few areas of the world have changed hands more often. At one time, Sicily obviously was part of the mainland of Europe; the Straits of Messina which separate it from the mainland now are just over two miles wide at one point, with a maximum width of 12 miles.

At the dawn of history the inhabitants of Sicily seem to have been the Sicani, probably an Iberian race. Then came the Siculi from Italy, giving the island its present name, then the Phoenicians. Beginning with the 8th century B. C., Greeks colonized the island, which still contains fine examples of Greek temples in the early Doric style. Then came the Carthaginians, who were driven out by the Romans. Sicily was the first Roman colony.

With the disintegration of the Roman empire, Sicily was occupied by Vandals, who came from Africa, then by Goths. In the 6th century A. D. it fell under the Eastern Roman empire but in the 9th century the island was over-run by Saracens, who enslaved many of the Christians.

In the latter part of the 11th century Normans occupied southern Italy, including Naples, and in 1072, under Count Roger, undertook the conquest of Sicily. They brought Gothic architecture, although interiors were often in Byzantine decoration, done by Saracen workmen. There were close connections with the Norman conquerors of England. The cathedral at Palermo was planned by an Englishman.

FOR several centuries the sovereignty of Sicily and southern Italy was shifted around among various rulers, including Holy Roman emperors, one of whom was buried at Palermo. In the 13th century the French were driven out, and Sicily became independent under the crown of Aragon. In this period many settlers crossed over from southern Italy, and Italian culture and the Italian language became dominant. In 1504 Sicily and Naples were again united, as the Two Sicilies, under the Spanish crown.

The Peace of Utrecht in 1713 assigned Sicily to the Duke of Savoy, Naples to Austria. Spain reconquered Sicily in 1718, gave it to Austria in exchange for Sardinia in 1720, when the Two Sicilies became part of the Austrian dominions. Spain reconquered both Sicily and southern Italy in 1734. They were ruled separately by Spanish Bourbon rulers, as kings of the Two Sicilies, except during the Napoleonic Wars, when southern Italy was a vassal of Napoleon.

In 1860 Sicily revolted against Bourbon oppression, and an expedition under Garibaldi, setting out from Genoa, drove out the Neapolitan troops. Garibaldi's force then crossed over to the mainland, conquering Naples, and Sicily and southern Italy were made part of the kingdom of Italy being organized out of various Italian provinces.

Deforestation has made the island less fertile than when Greek, Carthaginian, and Roman fought for possession. Many of the Italians who emigrated to the United States were Sicilians. Sicily was long the home of brigandage and of terrorist societies such as the Black Hand and the Mafia, but well before the outbreak of the present war organized lawlessness had been ended.

The rainy season lasts from November to March. In the dry season, the sirocco, dry wind from Africa, is oppressive. The chief mineral deposit is sulphur.

In World War III

By DAMON RUNYON

Next Time They'll Put Women Into Armed Service Same as Men—With a Draft Lottery.

IN World war III, the ladies will be drafted for various service corps at the outset, which is to say simultaneously with the gentlemen. Then it will not be necessary for the auxiliaries to carry on recruiting drives, as the WAAC is doing at present.

In my opinion, it is not too late to start drafting the ladies right now, inasmuch as the WAACs alone can use a large number of new members. I see no reason why the gals, married or single, who have no children under 14, or dependents, should not be impaneled for service the same as the gents.

I see no reason why the dolls should be permitted to decide for themselves whether or not they should serve their country if they are eligible, physically and otherwise, since the privilege of decision is denied the guys who have given the fair sex equal rights with men in almost every detail, and they should be required to share in all the responsibilities of men of which they are capable.

In nearly all the cities of the United States you see cocktail bars and cafes and hotel lounges crowded with dames who seem to have plenty of time for drinking and dancing and probably few of them between the ages of 18 and 44, the service age range, can show cause why they should not be in the uniform of one of the auxiliaries. Obviously, they have no babies to mind, or they would be home minding them. Obviously, they have no gentlemen such as husbands who require their domestic administrations, or they would be in their kitchens maneuvering with the pots and pans. Obviously they are idle females (as we say at the club) and probably the kind that turn up their beezers at the girls in service garb, and I say that kind should be in slipper camp or whatever the synonym for the boot camp of men may be. Maybe it is mules.

YOU can go to the race tracks, to the theaters and to all public amusements and see thousands of women in their finery, showing themselves off and having a good time. Some of them talk a great war. But the tip-off on women generally these days is the fact that the WAAC has to go into the highways and byways to drum up joiners. The only compensation is the fact that few of the ladies can any longer say in connection with the war, "I wish I was a man so I could enlist."

Hundreds of thousands of women who could easily qualify for the auxiliaries are working for less dough than the girls in the service are paid. Hundreds of thousands of others are pursuing trivial, if not useless, occupations and ignoring the opportunity of being of real value to their country. There is no more chance of getting females to volunteer up to the full number required by the auxiliaries than there is of getting a sufficient number of males to join of their own volition, hence we must have the draft for all. We must have compulsory military training for all after the war. I think the auxiliaries should be made a permanent part of our regular military and naval establishments with a force of women proportionate in numbers to the strength of the army and navy. But in the meantime I believe the draft should be applied to the women at once to eliminate recruiting drives, the necessity for which is no boost to the sex.

IN World war III, when the idea of women in the service will be accepted as a matter of course, I think the purpose of the auxiliaries will be greatly expanded. Before the war, I suggested in this column the formation of battalions of older women to serve as housekeepers for the soldiers, at least in the home camps. Doing the cooking and baking and cleaning and I believe all the work of this nature will be turned over to the auxiliaries in World war III. The idea certainly makes sense, because it would release an enormous number of enlisted men for sterner duties. However, I did not press my campaign, because I had a talk about it with a married corporal of my acquaintance in the army. He said if the members of my proposed battalions were housekeepers on the order of his own "till-death-do-us-part" he was going to desert. He said his wife's housekeeping was what was holding him in the armed forces.

What State Is Your Heart In?

By H. W. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—Your chances of getting married are greatest if you live in the South.

Second come the northern states and last the far west. These figures are from the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

As these figures were gathered recently, the far west was coming up with a rush. Its marriage rate was rising faster than that in the south or north. In all three areas the marriage rate has been rising since 1940, because of the war. Some married before war parted them, others probably because they had more money from war jobs.

In the south 9 per cent of eligible persons 15 years and over wed each year. In the far west this rate has been 5 per cent.

Age does not seem to make much difference in the south. The rate there at 45 and older is twice the rate of northern marriages of similar ages and about three times the western rate. Among women under 20, relatively twice as many southern girls go to the altar compared with their northern sisters.

As people grow older men remain marriageable at much higher rates than women. Between 60 and 69, the national marriage rate of eligible men is 12.9 per thousand and only 2.9 per thousand for women.

So They Say

In all lengthy sieges of the past, the combination of hunger, famine and disease has contributed to the final capitulation. It may play the determining role also in the coming siege of Hitler's European fortress.—Dr. Paul Cannon, University of Chicago pathologist.

The armed forces will get as much oil and gasoline as they need. There is no use anyone kidding anyone else about it—supplies available for civilians will be tight for a long time to come.—Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes.

Simplification of cotton fabrics will release approximately 230 million yards of cotton textiles annually through increased loom capacity.

Total revenue for the State of California for the 1941-42 fiscal period was $448,121,150, more than 15 per cent better than the previous year.

Allied Bombs Pound Naples

spokesman says only two small ships damaged as Japanese lose 37 out of 120 planes, with six U. S. aircraft missing.

New Guinea — Allied raiders sink or damage 20 Japanese craft in barge-busting foray along Huon peninsula; Japanese planes attack allied forces 90 miles northwest of Lae for third straight day.

China — Chinese troops kill or wound 40,000 of 100,000-man Japanese army in 40-day battle on upper Yangtze river front; key Japanese base at Owchihkow reported encircled.

Burma — RAF planes bomb, machinegun Japanese positions.

While axis radios nervously declared that British and American armies were preparing to strike across the eastern Mediterranean, allied warplanes continued to hammer Italy's anti-invasion defenses.

Bombers Pound Sicily

U. S. heavy bombers flying from the Middle East attacked the airdromes at Comiso and Biscari, Sicily, across the narrow Messina strait from the toe of Italy, and returned without loss.

RAF long-range fighters again scoured the Aegean sea, blasting an enemy ship off Delos island and shooting down a three-engined Italian bomber off Cyprus.

From northwest Africa, big RAF Wellington bombers which carry 4,000-pound double block-busters returned to the attack on the Italian mainland port of Naples and scored hits on the dock area.

Berlin dispatches to Ankara said the Balkans provided the likeliest target for allied invasion, and declared:

"German and Italian troops have already occupied all important positions in this new theater of war and have strongly fortified them."

The Germans said defense preparations "particularly apply to Crete."

RAF, Nazis Trade Bombs

The RAF carried its current offensive against axis targets across the channel last night while the German air force dropped bombs in London and on a south coast town.

Intruder planes ranging over northern France dropped their nightly packet of bombs on the airfield at Poix, near Amies; peppered a speeding E-boat off the French coast with bombs and cannon fire, and shot up railway trains and barges, the air ministry news service said.

One Mosquito pilot reported that he believed he had hit an ammunition train standing at a station so he went back and fired through the trainshed, touching off more explosives.

The forays were on a small scale compared with the attacks carried out during the last week.

Nazi raiders, meanwhile, running at top speed and low over London rooftops, plopped down a single surprise bomb in a major street, wrecking a postoffice and killing two persons. Two others were seriously injured and several were slightly hurt.

Coast Town Hit

Three or more persons were killed in another raid on a south England coast town, which Berlin said was Portsmouth.

The Berlin radio acknowledged that allied aircraft were over "reich territory" last night, but did not say whether its reference was to Germany or occupied soil.

An early report by Reuters from a recording of a Rome broadcast quoted the Italian radio as saying that Berlin was one of last night's targets, but later Reuters declared that the Italians evidently were referring to an alert in the German capital the night before.

Meantime, as another forerunner of the obliteration air offensive still to be unleashed against Germany, it was disclosed today that the second American-built American-manned airdrome to be completed within the last month was formally taken over by the Eighth U. S. Air Force.

It is a 600-acre, $8,000,000 plant, 11 months in the making. Americans built it with materials supplied by the British air ministry.

3,800 BRICK AND TILE WORKERS OFF JOBS

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., June 18—A production stoppage by 3,800 employes curtailed output of 28 plants operated by 15 clay tile and brick companies in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana today as AFL unionists considered a war labor board order to return to work pending mediation of a wage dispute.

The WLB'S message to the AFL United Brick and Clay Workers was announced last night by Paul Fuller, resident labor conciliator, who reported the stoppage developed when negotiations for a wage contract broke down after three companies failed to send representatives to bargaining sessions.

Fuller said the old contract expired May 29 but was advanced by the union to June 15 on condition all 15 concerns be represented in collective bargaining meetings. A spokesman for one company said the dispute began three months ago when three concerns announced they would negotiate separately with the union.

Cong. McGregor Opposes Driving Cut in Ohio

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18 — Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R-Ohio), commenting on reports that gasoline rationing restrictions might be extended from the Atlantic seaboard states to Ohio, told the house:

"I am not going to agree to any program which will subject my people to additional hardships, additional inconvenience in order to make eastern motorists feel better."

McGregor, of the 17th district which includes Delaware county said Ohio would protest extension of the ban "if the facts show that we of the midwest are going to be penalized because of a few eastern states can not get all the gasoline they want — a situation dependent a great deal upon transportation and not upon a lack of gasoline."

Myron E. Tipton Of Near Marengo Dies

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, June 18 — Myron E. Tipton, 74, of two miles north of Marengo, died in Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, yesterday of a heart ailment. He had been ill several weeks. He was born Aug. 14, 1868 in Franklin county and had been a farmer in Morrow county 20 years. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Katie Tipton; three sons, John of Ogden, Utah, Edgar of Marengo and Leonard of Columbus, and two daughters, Mrs. Cecil Snyder and Mrs. Lawrence Pleister of Columbus; 12 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren, and two brothers, William and Roy Tipton of Columbus. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday 2 p. m. in the Alton Methodist church in Columbus and burial will be made in a Columbus cemetery.

PRISONER CARE BY AXIS GOOD

Army Reports Men in German Hands Receiving Good Treatment.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18 — The axis powers generally are respecting provisions of the Geneva convention governing the treatment of prisoners of war and recognition of hospital ships, war department officials say, it was disclosed in printed hearings of the Army supply bill sent to the house today.

Witnesses told the appropriations committee they had no reports of shackling of American prisoners by the Germans, but on the contrary had heard that prisoner treatment was "very good." However, they added, the execution of American aviators who bombed Tokyo definitely was a violation of the convention agreement.

Testimony Highlights

Other highlights in the 590 pages of testimony included:

During the first year of the war, the transportation corps shipped overseas six times the volume of supplies and two and one-half times as many men as were transported in the first year of World War one.

Renegotiation of contracts saved the war department $1,400,000,000 from April 28, 1942, to April 30, 1943.

All United States troops overseas have full equipment, and in many cases have had full equipment supplied twice.

Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of services, believes the U. S. tank M-4 "is the best tank on the battlefield today," superior to the big German M-6.

The quartermaster corps buys 50,000,000 pounds of food every day; the ordnance department has produced enough ammunition to supply 2,000 30-caliber and 50-caliber bullets to every soldier in the army.

DR. SWANK

Clark, J. J. Stafford, Homer Waddell and Harry J. Barnhart. The men also will serve as active pallbearers for the commitment services Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Marion cemetery.

"My first acquaintance with Dr. Jesse Swank dates back nearly 40 years, when he, as a tall black-haired young man, came to Lancaster camp ground to conduct services for the young people," Dr. Turley said in paying tribute to Dr. Swank.

"I counted Jesse Swank as one of my best friends," he continued. "What a blessing, what an inspiration has this friendship been to me. What a ministry he had, ten pastorates in Ohio—Gettysburg one year, Zanesfield two years, West Liberty three years, Napoleon seven years, Bellefontaine five years, Van Wert seven years, Marion 10 years, Springfield 10 years, a few months at Westerville.

"Over 5,500 members received into the church during these 50 active years.

"Dr. Jesse Swank was a faithful pastor. Out of a great heart of sympathy he shared the burdens and the sorrows of his members. His very presence was always helpful and his message brought comfort from God for his people.

"I followed him in Marion. My first pastoral call on the members always began with the question—Did you know Dr. Swank? He had such a fine way of entering into and becoming a part of the life of his people.

"He was a good minister of Jesus Christ. It can truly be said of him—He was a preacher of the Word of God and a lover of mankind.

"In Dr. Swank's life there were no undedicated or unconsecrated areas. He was fully given to God and the Christian ministry.

"He prepared and preached his sermons with a sense of the nearness and the presence of God—realizing that he was the mouthpiece of Jehovah. There was a positive evangelistic note in his ministry. He did not deal in vague abstractions and glittering generalities, but he made a definite positive appeal for immediate decision and surrender to God.

"He always sounded an optimistic note in his preaching. He was not a dweller in the valley of spiritual depression but he lived on the mountaintop of constant victory. He was not hampered by any philosophy of futility and despair.

"He was a human instrument through which the Power of God was transmitted to the people to whom he ministered. The characters of men and women and young people were transformed by the victorious gospel he preached with such assurance and with such conviction and with such power.

"He believed with all his soul in the forgiveness of sins; in the redeeming love of Christ; in the new birth; in the baptism of the Holy Spirit; and in the Power of the Holy Ghost.

"No! Jesse Swank is not dead. He has transferred his membership from the Ohio Conference here to that Ohio Conference that is now assembled in the nearer presence of God.

"Dr. Jesse Swank, kind husband; genuine father; loyal friend; faithful pastor; stirring preacher; messenger of God, witness to the power of the Holy Spirit—

"Hail and farewell for a time but when we meet again it will be 'Good Morning.'"

MIDWEST GAS OUTLOOK DARK

Extension of Pipeline Expected To Hurt Rather Than Help Supply.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18—Completion of the eastward extension of the "Big Inch" oil pipeline around Aug. 1 probably will mean tighter restrictions on midwestern motorists without relaxing civilian use of gasoline in the east.

An informed source, declining to be named, said today the midwest is being spared now because gasoline that would be saved by additional restrictions there could not be moved eastward by the heavily-burdened railroads, but opening of the pipeline section would change the picture.

He gave this picture:

The 24-inch line now delivers about 230,000 barrels of crude oil daily into Norris City, Ill., from Texas oil fields, but only about half of it can be hauled east by rail to meet military and civilian needs on the seaboard.

The rest goes to midwestern refineries at present, but it will be pumped straight through to the coast after the east leg of the Big Inch opens and deliveries are stepped up to its capacity of 300,000 barrels a day.

There will be little chance of offsetting the consequent loss to the midwest, already dependent on the southwest to help feed crude oil to its refineries and further troubled with declining midwestern production, until Sept. 1 or later.

120 JAPANESE PLANES BELIEVED IN ATTACK

U. S. Victory Biggest Single Blow to Foe in Solomons.

By The Associated Press

AN ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, June 18 — Japan paid the startling price of 77 planes for her raid on Guadalcanal in which she threw an air fleet of perhaps 120 aircraft against the island but damaged only two small freight ships.

Only six American fighter planes were lost in the historic engagement, termed by a spokesman at this airforce headquarters as a major air victory, the greatest loss inflicted on the Japanese in any single battle in the Solomons area.

This destruction of 32 Japanese dive-bombers and 45 Zero fighters brings to 1,414 the official total of enemy planes downed in the South Pacific area since July 31, 1942. In this month of June alone, 146 enemy aircraft have been lost.

Word from the Solomons air headquarters on last Wednesday's mass attack said about 120 planes came down on Guadalcanal—"with very few going back."

An airforce spokesman here said he understood the Japanese scored hits on only one Liberty-type cargo ship, which was beached so she could be salvaged, and a smaller freighter which was set afire. Nine were were killed on this vessel.

This apparently was the extent of military damage caused by this greatest raiding party ever thrown against Guadalcanal, perhaps in an attempt to cripple the important allied base to forestall an American thrust northward.

(Significantly, the raid came at a time when Premier Hideki Tojo was telling his diet that the war had reached a "serious, decisive stage, with the enemy mobilizing all his resources for a counter-offensive.")

(This lent weight to the observation that the Japanese thrust was chiefly defensive, aimed at breaking up an allied concentration of power in the Guadalcanal area.)

MRS. HESTER GATEWOOD DIES AT FRESNO, CALIF.

Mother of Ray Gatewood of Marion County.

Ray Gatewood of the Claridon pike received word today that his mother, Mrs. Hester Ann Allgood Gatewood, died Thursday at her home in Fresno, Calif., of infirmities of age. She was preceded in death by her husband, Charles in March 1942.

Surviving are four children: Fred, Harry and Mrs. William G. Doherty all of Fresno and Roy of Marion county, eight grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

Pvt. Charles Wesley Gatewood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gatewood, who is stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington recently received a furlough and visited his grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gatewood last visited in Marion in 1925. Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. and burial will be made in Fresno.

HARDIN CO. FARMER SUFFOCATED IN WELL

Mack Reed Overcome While Making Well Repairs.

By The Associated Press

KENTON, O., June 18—Mack Reed, 28, prominently known farmer of southwest of Kenton near Roundhead, was suffocated yesterday, Coroner J. A. Mooney said upon recovery of the body from a 35 foot deep well at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reed.

The young man had climbed into the well to make needed repairs, as he was accustomed to do, and was overcome by gas that had seeped into the well, a condition that was blamed on excessive rains which had hit the Roundhead community this week.

The Kenton fire department and rescue squad was called. A noose was slipped about his wrists from top of the well and the body was hoisted to the surface.

Mr. Reed is survived by his wife; a small son; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reed; and two sisters, Mrs. LeRoy Lenhart of Roundhead and Mrs. Lois Radtner of Columbus.

U. S. Air Victory Believed Proof Japs Are Finally on Defensive in Pacific

Offensive Believed To Have Passed Over to Allies; Significance Seen in Failing Ability of Jap Air Power.

While DeWitt Mackenzie is on vacation, this daily column is being written by Max Hill, former chief of The Associated Press bureau in Tokyo.

By MAX HILL

There is a significance not too easily noted in the brief communiques and dispatches on the tremendous air battle over Guadalcanal, which was announced yesterday by the United States Navy.

The Japanese, in my opinion, finally are on the defense in that area. That was our role for many long weary months.

That they consider the situation important and perhaps critical is shown by the fact that they used at least 120 fighters and bombers in their desperate and futile assault.

The announced results toss a lie right back into the teeth of Premier Tojo and the Japanese propagandists.

In recent weeks, Tokyo broadcasters have been informing their people at home, and also the world by short wave, that most of the American airmen in the Pacific were college boys without adequate training.

Well, 32 Japanese dive bombers and 45 Zero fighters were shot down in the fierce engagement, as compared with a loss of six American fighters. That's 13 to 1—and heaven help the Japanese if we ever get what they would call a properly trained airforce in the South Pacific.

Believe Convoy Was Target

The reason for the battle was not disclosed for many hours, but by combining information in the dispatches from Leif Erickson, The Associated Press correspondent at an advanced South Pacific base, and statements from Tokyo in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press in London, it can be inferred that a rather large allied convoy was the Japanese objective.

Tokyo said eight vessels, one a destroyer, were sunk, but this was not confirmed by any allied source. The loss of 29 planes also was admitted. On the other hand, Erickson in his dispatches filed not far from the scene of the engagement said only two small freight ships were damaged.

While Guadalcanal is some 3,000 miles from the main Japanese island of Honshu, it is evident the Rising Sun forces fear the concentration of power there because of our proximity to bases and airfields they have elsewhere in that area.

One of the main, and still unexplained phases of the battle is how our forces were able to inflict such tremendous damage with so light a loss in men and equipment.

Were the Japanese surprised as they came in high over the area by a stronger force than they expected, or did the planes come, say, from a direction not counted on when the Japanese planned their attack?

Worst Jap Blow Yet

In the past the Japanese have depended upon the maneuverability of the Zeros and their ability to fly almost six miles above the earth to ward off attacks. They have been at least moderately successful, although in most combats their losses have been greater than our own. That strategy didn't work this time for a reason yet to be explained.

But never has the ratio been anything like 13 to 1. It isn't likely we have any accurate count on the number of first-line pilots the Japanese have available, but I doubt that they are able to train men as rapidly as we are. This is true despite the use of modern American equipment bought a few years before the war.

American airmen back from the Pacific, who once admitted the skill of the Japanese pilots they fought, now say that the first line men are gone and that the enemy pilots they are engaging are second-raters. This could be due to any one of a number of things.

Perhaps the Japanese are holding some of their best men in reserve to thwart the inevitable attack on their homeland. Again, they may have just plain run out, and have had to rush men through training schools.

The Japanese haven't our mechanical background. Almost every American boy knows how to drive an automobile, possibly has owned one. He has an aptitude and skill for engines. Unless the Japanese pilot lived in a city he probably never even saw an automobile, let alone rode in one. That is one of the factors which makes their training of pilots such a long and tedious process.

CONGRESS

ment camps for 320,000 war prisoners.

"We have passed from defensive to offensive action," McNarney said after recalling that when last year's supply bill was passed the Army had less than 2,500,000 men only partly trained and equipped and "we were in a precarious position, confronted with two aggressive, well-equipped and well-trained enemies on two fronts."

"Having driven the axis from Africa, we intend to deliver the knockout blow on the enemy's home grounds," he continued. "We have stemmed the forward movement of the Japs and are now in the process of evicting them from their conquests. Aerial warfare is being intensified. . . This will be followed at the propitious time by an all-out blow by both land and air. We will bring the war home to Japan, Germany and Italy."

Army Totals 6,500,000

The Army's enlisted strength by the end of this month, declared Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commander of the Army service forces, will be 6,500,000 men, or almost twice its size at the end of the first World war.

For the WAACS, both General McNarney and the committee voiced words of praise.

The committee wrote into its formal report "unqualified indorsement" of the women's organization and condemned "in no uncertain terms those who indulge in maligning this splendid group of patriotic women who are doing all they can to aid in the war effort."

Expressing a "hope that none of the axis powers will resort to chemical warfare," the committee approved for the chemical warfare service a budget estimate of $1,154,734,000, including an $812,474,000 carryover from this year. The committee said it was "determined that our own and allied forces shall be at all times and in all theaters completely ready, defensively and offensively, should our enemies elect to engage in this diabolical form of attack" and added it had "every assurance that our forces are ready for any eventuality."

Record Naval Fund Measure at White House

WASHINGTON, June 18—The largest naval appropriation in history, a $27,637,000,000 measure carrying $9,118,000,000 for new warships and auxiliary craft as well as funds for other naval operations, went to the White House today for expected quick approval.

The senate completed legislative action on the measure by a voice vote.

A $4,583,000,000 item in the huge bill will provide funds for building 29,142 more fighting and training airplanes.

The house yesterday agreed to additions totaling $173,539,000, tacked on by the senate.

GASOLINE STOCKS NEAR CRITICAL POINT

Bureau of Mines Says Supply Plentiful Only in West.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18—Gasoline stocks were reported by the bureau of mines yesterday to be "rapidly approaching critical levels" everywhere in the country, except the west coast.

April and May, it said, recorded heavy dips into stored supplies.

The bureau added to indications that tighter restrictions on civilian motoring may be in prospect for the mid-continent area before summer is out by saying:

"Generally, April is the month in which gasoline stock withdrawals begin, but this April the withdrawal reached a high peak of about 5,500,000 barrels. This was followed in May by another decline....

"The total (military, civilian and export) demand for motor fuel in April was about 51,600,000 barrels, which was several million barrels greater than expectation and only one per cent below a year ago."

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FUND PROBLEM LOOMS

Three States Indicate They'll Not Aid National Committee.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, June 18 — The question of raising funds for the 1944 national Democratic campaign stirred Democratic leaders in three southern states today.

J. Lon Duckworth, chairman of the Georgia Democratic executive committee, said in an interview that the group would make no effort to aid the national committee financially unless national party leaders "quit dealing with Republicans and Willkie-ites in Georgia."

He declared the committee had refused "repeated requests" for funds from the national committee.

Francis J. Whitehead, assistant secretary of Louisiana's Democratic central committee, asserted that any request for funds from national party headquarters likely would go unheeded by the Democratic party in that state.

"Unless the Democrats soon straighten out their policies respecting the South they'll find that raising campaign funds in Louisiana will be a short proposition," Whitehead said.

Published reports in the Spartanburg (S. C.) Herald that the South Carolina Democratic executive committee had refused to furnish money for the national party's 1944 campaign were termed "wholly untrue" by Chairman Winchester Smith.

Nazis Voice Admiration of United States Tanks

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, June 18 — American General Sherman tanks proved so formidable in Africa that Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian, inspector general of the German tank force, is putting captured models through elaborate tests in hopes of discovering a weakness before the allies invade Europe, the Berlin correspondent of Aftonbladet reported today.

Nazi tank specialists openly express admiration for the General Sherman, the correspondent said, and Guderian was stated to have formed an experimental tank regiment equipped both with captured Shermans and General Lees.

planes, new tactics, new strategy and new kinds of bombs," the writer quoted one source as saying.

Reliable reports from the reich said, however, that the Germans had been forced to shift their plane output from bombers to fighters in order to combat the allied offensive.

2,500 See 7th Little Grand Circuit Harness Session

Secret Mission Wins Featured 2:24 Pace Stake Race.

BY LOREN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

SECRET Mission, owned by Cleo A. Young of Timmonsville, S. C., and driven by Carl Hetzell of the same southern city, won last night's Little Grand Circuit harness racing feature, the 2:24 pace stake, a two-in-three heating first in only one heat, second in another and sixth in the final heat.

Colleen Scott, owned by A. L. Derby of Wichita, Kan., was driven by Everett Osborn, won the second heat of the feature event and Howard Bowley of Celina booted William H. Hecht's Hecantrot to victory in the final dash.

Wagering last night's seventh program of the meeting conducted by the city estimated at 2,500 by race officials, but which from all appearances exceeded Saturday night's turnout officially set at 2,500. Unusually favorable weather in Marion and in most of the surrounding area was largely responsible for the big turnout. Mutuel Manager George Reverman reported that betting was good.

Takes Early Lead

Taking the lead at the start Secret Mission led all the way in winning the initial heat of the 2:24 pace stake. My Scott, piloted by crafty Johnny Mallalieu, furnished plenty of excitment in coming from seventh place to a close second.

Last night's start was Secret Mission's third of the meeting. Racing in the 2:25 pace, a two-dash contest, the little bay filly finished 3-9. Matched against a field of seven Monday night in a three-dash 2:25 pace event Secret Mission finished 1-5-2. Because of these not so bright showings, the South Carolina filly was not strongly favored at the mutuel windows and paid off $13 for $2.

Just as much expected as Secret Mission's win was Colleen Scott's victory in the second heat, but the climatic surprise was Hecantrot's win the final dash. The Celina-owned bay took the lead late in the back stretch and raced home ahead of Secret Mission and eight other stalwarts. Hecantrot, converted to a pacer this year after setting a record of 2:09 as a trotter, paid $51.60 to win, $11.40 to place and $2.60 to show.

Star Drift, owned by Henry E. Warwick of Westfield, Ind., was guided to straight heat victories by Clint Hodgins of Shelbyville, Ind., in the supplementary attraction — the free-for-all trot.

Smith Wins

Doctor S, owned by Elmer Junk of Washington, C. H., and driven by Ernie Smith won the claiming pace, winning the first two heats and finished fifth behind Queen Day, owned by E. C. Moriarity of Wichita Kas, and driven by Everett Osborn.

Last night's daily double on Doctor S in the second race and Secret Mission in the third paid

Snatches of Sports

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, June 18—Here it is past the middle of June and there hasn't been a major golf tournament yet which makes it the first June without one since the other World war . . . The Hale American tourney filled the gap last year when the National Open was abandoned . . . Richmond university, which nearly quit football when Coach Johnny Fenlon went into the service, is due to get a batch of good players July 1 when the Navy moves in. The consignment may include most of the mighty William and Mary team . . . And word from the midwest is that a large part of Minnesota's 1942 team will wind up as marine trainees at Northwestern.

MILWAUKEE ALONE IN 2ND PLACE SPOT

Breaks Tie by 4-0 Win Over Minneapolis.

By The Associated Press

The first round in the Milwaukee-Minneapolis battle for second place in the American Association goes to Milwaukee — by a knockdown and a shutout.

The Brewers took the opening contest of the "crucial" five-game series last night by slugging out two home runs, a triple, a double and three singles while Jittery Joe Berry was holding the Millers scoreless on a skimply four-hit allowance. The score was 4 to 0.

The outcome broke a tie between the two teams and gave Milwaukee a one-game edge on second place. But the Brewers slipped a half-game further out of the lead as pace-setting Indianapolis swept a double-header from the decling Toledo Mudhens.

The Indians, in scoring their 22nd and 23rd victories of the season against only 12 defeats, clipped the Hens 4 to 2 in the seven-inning opener and dashed away with a 6 to 0 triumph in the nightcap behind Lefty Jimmy Trexler's three-hit pitching.

The Columbus Red Birds, holding tight in fourth place, defeated Louisville, 2 to 0, by collecting two of their four hits, plus a base on balls, in the eighth inning and scoring both their runs. The winning markers were driven in by pinch-hitter Joe Garagiola, who doubled with Emil Verban and Tom Heath on base.

Kansas City and St. Paul were not scheduled.

TROSKY, CLEVELAND'S FORMER 1ST SACKER, READY TO PLAY AGAIN

Says Head Trouble Cleared Now: Plans To Confer with Boudreau.

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 18 — Hal Trosky, former Cleveland first baseman, was ready today to end his self-imposed retirement from baseball and return to the Indians' lineup where he established a nine-year batting average of .313.

The 31-year-old veteran no longer suffering from severe headaches which forced him to retire before the start of the 1942 season, awaited the appearance at Comiskey Park of Manager Lou Boudreau of the Tribe, which opens a series with Chicago tonight.

Trosky came here yesterday from his farm home at Norway, Ia., and conferred with the St. Louis Browns. He is 29 pounds lighter—down to about 185—than when he last played.

"I'm not suffering from migraine headaches like I formerly did," Trosky said. "My trouble seemed to have disappeared entirely. I am happy because of it. I'm anxious to return to baseball.

"There are several things I will have to work out with the Cleveland management before anything definite can be done, but I hope we can iron out these problems while the Indians are here in Chicago."

The Indians last winter urged Trosky to return, but his headaches and the problems involved in the operation of his Iowa farm caused him to decline.

His return might solve a major problem for Cleveland.

The Tribe used Otto Denning, a catcher, and Roy Cullenbine, an outfielder, at first base early this spring. Cullenbine finally clinched the job but a shortage of fly chasers caused Manager Lou Boudreau to return him to the outfield. On June 5 the Tribe acquired Mickey Rocco from Buffalo of the International league to play first base.

Cronin Pinch Hits Four Times in 5 Days, Gets 3 Homers

By The Associated Press

Joseph Edward Cronin, the six-foot-one manager of the Boston Red Sox, will have a new story to tell the soldiers and sailors overseas time he makes another journey abroad for the Red Cross next winter.

The boys will want to hear about the time that the proud Philadelphia Athletics came to Boston for a five-game series during which Cronin, 36 years old and used as a barrage balloon, made four appearances as a pinch-hitter and produced three home runs—every one with two teammates aboard.

Cronin will start his story with the May doubleheader on June 15, a Tuesday. His Red Sox lost both games, but the red cheeked Bostonian poked one of Lum Harris' unsolicited pitches in the stands in the seventh inning.

2 in Doubleheader

This will lead up to the climax on Thursday, when he reaches the peak in pinch hitting—a home run in each game of a doubleheader.

The A's had a 4-1 lead in the seventh inning of the first game when Barna and Newsome got on base and Cronin came up against Russ Christopher. Quickly he rifled a drive into the stands to tie the score, and the Sox went on to a 5-4 victory.

In the second game the A's were winning 3-1 when Cronin came up against Rookie Don Black in the eighth inning with Bobby Doerr and Newsome on base. It was the same story, except that Boston didn't get any more runs and the A's won the second game 8-7.

Winning the nightcap lifted the A's into third place in the American league because Detroit dropped a twilight-night doubleheader to the Cleveland Indians 3-2 and 8-5, the second game going 12 innings. Relief Pitcher Mike Naymick received credit for both victories with Manager Lou Boudreau driving in the deciding run with a ninth-inning single in the first game and scoring the winning run in the second session.

The New York Yankees were given 9-8 decision over the Washington Senators in a ragged game in which the winning run was forced across on a walk by Early Wynn with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Chisox Edge Browns

Luke Appling enabled the Chicago White Sox to nose out the St. Louis Browns 4-3 in 13 innings. He doubled for two runs to tie the score in the ninth and singled home the winning run four frames later.

Cincinnati set down the St. Louis Cardinals 6-1 and moved closer to second place in the National League as Elmer Riddle limited five-hit ball and Geo Walker drove in three of the Reds runs.

The New York Giants completed a sweep of their three-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers by winning 8-5 on the impetus of a five-run first inning against Kirby Higbe.

The Chicago Cubs were held to four hits, but one of them was a three-run homer by Lou Novikoff and brought them a 3-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who made just six safeties off Paul Derringer.

Philadelphia and Boston divided a doubleheader, the Braves taking the first game 2-0 on the four-hit hurling of Manny Salvo, who had not won previously this year, and the Phillies bagging the nightcap 7-2 with a 13-hit attack.

Many Servicemen Set For A. A. U. Championships

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 18 — Although department of war leaders say that their soldier-students won't have time for intercollegiate athletics this fall, representatives from 18 Army camps will compete this week-end in the National A. A. U. track and field championships.

A majority of the khaki runners are coming to Randall's Island on furlough—time usually saved for a trip home.

Sailors, Marines and Coast Guardsmen from 14 different camps also will be here for the biggest service entry in the 55 years of the meet.

MORRAL TRACK STAR WINS SPOT ON FIRST ALL-OHIO TEAM

Wilbur Bibler on Honorary Class B Mile Relay Squad Announced Today.

Wilbur Bibler ace trackster of Morral High's team for the last three seasons, has been awarded a position on the honorary Ohio Class B mile relay team selected by the Ohio Association of Track Coaches, The Associated Press reported today.

This is the first all-state track and field team ever chosen.

Ed Barker of Duncan Falls, secretary of the association, announced 95 boys on the first team Bill Chesser, the record man team who copped the state Class B laurels for Rome-Sharpsburg, winning four meritons.

Ernie Pitts, Canton McKinley's huge Negro ace, was named in three events, as was Gene Sampson of Class B Bremen Twin honors went to Tommy Hasan of Cleveland John Marshall, Richard Bennett of Columbus University, and Matt Coker, the shot-putting heaver from Chagrin Falls Orange.

Bennett cut the jackpot twice, although failing to compete in the state meet, while five others who failed to score a point in the classic were mentioned. Bennett, one of the central district's stars was "weeded out of the state meet when, after qualifying in the district event, he injured his knee while helping a farmer with a strawberry patch.

MAY QUIT BASEBALL

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 18 — Paul Dean, who used to barrel in fast balls for the St. Louis Cardinals when he and his brother, Dizzy, were in their pitching prime, is thinking about giving up baseball to run a barrel factory. Dean, who pitched only 13 1-3 innings for the St. Louis Browns this year and has gone to St. Louis to confer with vice president Bill Deane Witt.

STATE EMPLOYES PAY RAISE PROBLEM DEVELOPS

New Setup Makes Many Salary Boosts Discretionary.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 18—The heads of Ohio's departments of state are tussling with an admittedly knotty problem.

They must determine which of the departmental employes to recommend for a $180-a-year salary raise available under the general appropriations measure to workers who are paid $2,000 or more annually.

The appropriations bill carries mandatory 10 per cent wage hikes for state employes receiving up to $1,800 annually and increases for those in the $1,800 to $2,000 bracket which would bring their salary to $2,000.

At the discretion of departmental chiefs, employes now paid $2,000 or more may get the $180 annual boost with the approval, however, of the state board of control.

WLB REJECTS MINE ISSUE

Refuses To Rule on Portal-to-Portal Pay Demand: Vote Split.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18—The war labor board today rejected the United Mine Workers' portal-to-portal pay demand on grounds that it constituted a law case which the board is powerless to settle.

The vote was 8 to 4, labor members of the board dissenting. They took the position that the case is a labor dispute which the WLB could dispose of, but declared "the decision is the decision of the war labor board and the decision of the government of the United States of America."

This statement was made by Van A. Bittner, a former official of the United Mine Workers. He added that "the no-strike agreement made to the President of the United States must be carried out today just as it was the day we made it."

FARM GROUPS FIGHT SUBSIDY

New Legislation Proposed To Thwart Price-Spread Payments.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18—New anti-subsidy legislation backed by farm organizations today touched a parade of congressional proposals aimed at thwarting administration plans to push prices down by paying the difference out of government funds.

To subsidy opponents, already entrenched in positions ranging from a flat prohibition to limited payments, the latest offering provided a middle ground by forbidding expansion of the present subsidy program without congressional sanction.

The measure was introduced in the house by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.) to amend a bill extending the life of the commodity credit corporation (CCC) so that the agency's funds could not be used for subsidies. It was supported by many congressmen.

Gillette Prepares Bill

Meantime, Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) reported that he is considering submission of an identical provision to the senate CCC bill.

This measure presently contains a direct prohibition against subsidy payments to offset price reductions on food products but the senate banking committee, which approved it, said a more liberal substitute for the anti-subsidy clause will be offered on the floor.

Gillette said the new proposal was supported by the National Cooperative Milk Producers federation, the American Farm Bureau, the National Grange and similar groups, which had protested that the government's subsidy program would ruin small producers and reduce output of agricultural commodities.

Labor Urges Rollback

Organized labor, however, has urged extension of the price-rollback program on butter, meats, coffee and fresh vegetables to most other commodities and enlargement of a $450,000,000 subsidy to $2,000,000,000 to finance price cuts to April, 1942 levels. The alternative, labor representatives insisted, must be a relaxation of wage controls to meet higher living expenses.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), with support of other lawmakers, prepared legislation to authorize subsidy payments to offset increased transportation costs, reduce government expenditures for war equipment and for any other use congress might allow.

Milk Producers Official Hits Subsidy Plan

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., June 18—American farmers were called on today to shun federal subsidies as a substitute for "necessary prices" by Secretary Charles W. Holman of the National Cooperative Milk Producers federation.

To accept such subsidies would "make American farmers the joint vassals of organized labor and the New Dealers in Washington," Holman told a meeting of Stark and Summit county dairy farmers at nearby Canal Fulton.

"A deal has undoubtedly been made," he asserted, "between the New Dealers and the heads of organized labor—a deal which allows a continuation of wage advances, plus roll-backs in retail prices at the public expense."

75,000 Polish Soldiers Ready To Aid Invasion

Middle East Force Includes Many Veterans; Equipped with U. S. and British Weapons.

By WACLAW SIKORSKI
Polish Telegraph Agency Correspondent

TEHERAN, IRAN—As invasion forces are being welded into readiness for an encircling offensive against the Nazi fortress of continental Europe, the allied high command is counting heavily on a little known fighting force already assembled on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean.

This is the eastern Polish army, consisting of four regular infantry divisions, one armored brigade and various independent motorized units, all trained by the most modern methods and fully equipped with British and American weapons. Its total strength is 75,000 officers and men, exclusive of an important women's auxiliary service and several detachments of trained units composed of boys under 17 years of age.

Thus the allies have in the middle east a full-sized army of soldiers at least half of whom are veteran regulars who saw action in Poland in September, 1939. They are commanded by General Wladyslaw Anders.

One unit is largely composed of survivors of the Polish Carpathian division which participated in the Tobruk and Libyan offensives. But the main body of troops was organized in Russia in the winter of 1941-42, following the Russo-Polish pact which released these former prisoners of war.

In the summer of 1942 the army was joined to the British forces in Persia to strengthen the garrison maintained there while the main British effort was being concentrated against Rommel.

As the decisive hour approaches on the Mediterranean front, those who are laying plans for a campaign in the Balkans are mindful of the asset of having in the ranks many soldiers who escaped from peninsula on their way to Egypt or Syria. Many spent several months en route, and were able to learn one or more Balkan languages. A sizeable contingent of these men, of course, escaped from occupied Poland itself, penetrating gaps in the Nazi-German control system following the occupation of Greece and Yugoslavia. This "underground" route, incidentally, is still functioning.

Fast-Moving Battle Royal Features Weekly Wrestling Card at Armory

Armory fans were treated to a fast moving battle royal Thursday night followed by a semi-final between Wild Bill Zimovich and Soldier Thomas and a main go between Larry "Babe" Kasaboski of Canada and John Vansky, Kearny, N. J., heavyweight. The last two mat artists survived the free-for-all slugging. Kasaboski was awarded the match by the referee after he took two straight falls from Vansky.

The principal feature of the card was fought on even terms for the first few minutes after the bell but rough and tumble tactics by the 195-pound Kasaboski gained him the first fall after 15 minutes had elapsed. After the Canadian had violently thrown Vansky out of the ring twice, he used an airplane spin to down the Jersey heavyweight. He then applied a body press to pin the demoralized Vansky.

When the two returned to the ring after the first fall, Kasaboski immediately began to continue his bone crushing methods. He grabbed Vansky by the head and placed his noggin between the ropes. Too much pressure caused Vansky to bark uncle after six minutes. The referee tried to stop Larry's unorthodox hold but suffered the consequences by being downed twice himself by the temperamental Canadian.

Rene La Bell, the clever French-Canadian, originally scheduled to participate in the main go was detained in Columbus and could not be present at the West Church street arena last night.

In the battle royal prelim, the following grunt and groan exponents displayed their wares: the Purple Phantom, 200; Soldier Thomas, 195, of Portland, Ore.; Wild Bill Zimovich, 210, of Nicaragua; and the two main go wrestlers. The Phantom was downed after three minutes, Thomas after five minutes, and the powerful Zimovich after six minutes.

Feature of this bout was the attempted unmasking of the Purple Phantom. All of the other men in the ring downed the man of mystery and by sheer force of numbers succeeded in removing his mask. However, before anyone could glimpse his face, the phantom swiftly put his mask on once more, thus prolonging the suspense as to who he really is.

Zimovich furnished considerable excitement and amusement in a 45 minute semi-final with Soldier Thomas. He removed the string from his trunks and tied both of Thomas' hands behind his back and then fastened him securely to the ropes. However, Thomas retaliated and slipped the string around the Nicaraguan's neck. Zimovich used his brute strength to win the fight in 33 minutes.

SUPPOSE IT HAD TO LAST A LIFETIME

HOW CAN you take steps to make sure your car will last through the duration?

The simple way is to treat your car as if it would have to last a lifetime! As if you never would be able to get another!

Keep your engine properly tuned! Change oil promptly—and no fooling! Watch plugs—brakes—batteries—carburetors! Really DO the things you know SHOULD be done, but have found you can "let slide" under peacetime practices of trading in every two or three years.

It isn't as much bother as you think. Because we'll take over the job of making your car last if you'll give us the chance and work with us.

We've got the men, got the equipment, got the know-how to do it. How about coming in to talk it over?

You're Not In A
Predicament
If you lose your Ration Book

Applicants must advertise in a local newspaper of general circulation in the area in which the applicant resides or in which the ration book or coupons were lost at least twice within 10 days after applying to the local board. Description of the missing books or coupons as listed in the application must be stated in the advertisement.

A copy of the advertisement must be mailed to C. C. Holliday, chief clerk of the local board.

At the end of 10 day the applicant may appear before the local board and upon showing a copy of the advertisement and stating the loss has been reported to police and that the missing books or coupons have not been returned, replacements will be issued.

WANT U. S. TO AID IN PEACE

American Collaboration Favored by 2 Ohioans on Foreign Affairs Committee.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 18 — Ohio's two Republican members of the house foreign affairs committee are ready to support quick passage of a resolution accepting the principle that the United States must collaborate in establishment and maintenance of world peace after victory.

Frances P. Bolton of Cleveland suggests that the resolution "clarifies a beginning" in the direction she thinks the country ought to go.

Historic Sentence

John Vorys of Columbus said approval of the one-sentence resolution by the committee will prove to be historic because "it is so brief and simple that it can hardly be misunderstood or misconstrued."

The resolution stipulates that "congress hereby expresses itself as favoring the creation of appropriate international machinery with power adequate to establish and to maintain a just and lasting peace among the nations of the world and as favoring participation by the United States therein."

"This, said Vorys, "is not just a pious generality. It is not a 'must' measure from the executive. It is not a blue print of a super government. It is not an anti-administration measure. It is not a commitment. It is merely a statement of congressional preference in post-war policies."

Vorys' opinion that the resolution "was homemade by representatives of the people and by nobody else" coincided with Mrs. Bolton's assertion that it is "a first step toward insuring us as a nation at war a secure and lasting peace."

"Clarifies a Beginning"

"It's very simplicity," she said, "lends itself to making possible a start in unified thinking on the part of congress. It settles nothing, it merely clarifies a beginning. But it does say that because we are participating in the war we have the right, and the obligation to participate in setting up the peace.

"It recognizes the fundamental fact that just as our strength and our power is necessary to victory so is our power, our vision, our influence necessary to peace."

During the last war the mail-order price for a pair of overalls rose from 82 cents to $2.95, and at one time a 10-pound bag of sugar cost $2.67.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Common Pleas Court of Marion County, Ohio.

William E. Sager, Plaintiff, vs. Martha E. Kinnamon, widow and unmarried, et. al. Case No. 27402.

Mary Lois Kinnamon Brave and Michael Brave, whose last known place of residence was 44 Richmond Street, Newark, New Jersey, will take notice that on the 21st day of April, 1943, William E. Sager filed his Petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio, being Case No. 27402, against them, being a suit to quiet title and for the reformation of certain deeds of conveyance to the following described premises:

Situated in the County of Marion, State of Ohio, and in the Township of Bowling Green, bounded and described as follows: Being part of Virginia Military Survey Number 10059, and beginning at a point in the west line of said survey, sixty (60) poles south of the northwest corner of said survey; thence south twelve (12°) degrees east on the west line of said survey, a distance of eighty (80) poles; thence north seventy-eight (78°) degrees East eighty (80) poles; thence north twelve (12°) degrees west eighty (80) poles; thence south seventy-eight (78°) degrees west eighty (80) poles to the place of the beginning, containing forty (40) acres, more or less, excepting therefrom a strip of land six and two-thirds (6-2/3) rods wide off of the north end thereof, containing in said exception three and one-third (3-1/3) acres, more or less.

Also, the following described lands: Situated in the Township of Bowling Green, County of Marion and State of Ohio, and being part of Military Survey No. 5857, beginning at the northeast corner of said Survey No. 5857; thence south ten (10°) degrees east with the east line of said Survey, which is the west line of Survey No. 10059, fifty-six (56) poles to the center of the LaRue and Essex Pike (formerly the Delaware and Kenton Free Turnpike Gravel Road); thence with said road North forty-eight (48°) degrees west seventy-four and one-fourth (74-1/4) poles to the north line of said Survey; thence north seventy-nine (79°) degrees east, forty-four and three-fourths (44-3/4) poles to the place of beginning, containing seven (7) acres and one hundred twenty-eight and four-fifths (128-4/5) poles, and containing in both tracts, forty-four and six-tenths (44.6) acres, more or less;

That all clouds upon his title may be removed; that said Defendants be compelled to set up the claims, or interest, if any, they have in said premises, and that the Defendants be perpetually enjoined from asserting or making any claim to said premises, or any part thereof, and that his deed be reformed, and for such other and further relief as in law and equity he may be entitled to.

Said Defendants are required to answer on or before the 24th day of July, 1943, or judgement may be taken against them.

MARKET STILL AT DULL PACE

Only Few Issues Score Gains; Many Leaders Fail To Attract Buyers.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK June 18—Selected stocks achieved a moderate degree of popularity in today's market but many leaders were wall flowers so far as buyers were concerned.

The pace again was on the slow side and opening gains of fractions were reduced or cancelled in numerous cases near the fourth hour.

Shares ahead at intervals included Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Hudson & Manhattan common and preferred, Allied Stores, Anaconda, Kennecott, Standard Oil (NJ), International Harvester and General Electric. Among intermittent losers were American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Pennsylvania, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Radio Corp., Phillip Morris and Eastman Kodak. Bonds were higher in spots and commodities narrow.

In a mixed curb support was accorded Lake Shore, Brazilian Traction and American Light. Electric Bond & Share wavered, along with Cities Service, Gulf Oil and American Cyanamid "B."

GRAIN PRICES FIRM BUT TRADING LIGHT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 18—Grains moved within a narrow range today, but managed to display a firm undertone in an extremely quiet market. At one time wheat was up almost a cent, but selling later in the session cancelled much of this gain. Oats and rye were ahead small fractions most of the day.

There was an absence of news to influence price trends. Crop reports continued relatively favorable, causing some covering by traders who had previously gone short. The general disposition of most grain men, however, was to adopt a waiting attitude toward the market.

bination of increased emphasis on aerial warfare and a turning-point trend toward sharpening the present striking force rather than continuing to expand it.

"In both cases," D. C. summed it up, "the result should be about the same: "a lessened military demand for men, and one that will affect even older men who are not fathers."

Speaker said the whole question hinged on casualties and the replacement problem, that it concerned the available forces of all United Nations. A major setback on any front would change the picture, he said, but added that otherwise, much drafting may ease off after the first of the year.

"Even the replacement problem up to now has been less troublesome than anticipated," D. C. said, asserting that North African casualties were considerably less than had been expected.

CINCINNATI PACKERS CLOSE

CINCINNATI, June 18—Virtually all greater Cincinnati beef, veal and lamb packing plants were closed, or in process of closing today, because officials said they were unable to operate under federal price ceiling regulations. Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"OKAY!" Dicky said, with that readiness to assist himself to any emergency which always characterizes him. "I'll be over inside half an hour. Will that do?"

"Wait a second," I told him, and turned to my father.

"He says half an hour," I told him.

"Tell him that will be perfectly all right," he answered, and when I had relayed the message, and put up the receiver, my father spoke lightly.

"I must leave immediately to see the manager of that hotel where Olina is to go tomorrow. I will be back to see Richard later. Tell him in the meantime what we had planned for tonight, and acquaint him with all the developments that have come up today. Then tell him, I am sure that Ruth Hayes will try to get in here when Katharine sends her that message of postponement. Tell him the campaign is in his hands: that Ruth is not to see Katharine. Whether she sees you or not is entirely up to Richard."

Wants to Watch Dicky

"I hope he won't decide against it," I said. "I can think of few things more enjoyable than watching Dicky bait Ruth, as he so well knows how to do."

"I imagine he'll let you have a box seat at the performance," my father said with a smile. "Now one other thing. Tell Richard the disguise I have planned for you tomorrow, and have him go outside and get in touch with Halloran. For many reasons, I do not want him to talk to Halloran over this telephone. Let me see, I think the best thing will be to arrange for a room for you at that hotel for eight o'clock tomorrow morning. Tell Halloran he is to come to the hotel at eight o'clock, and ask for Mrs. Graham. He is to bring with him everything which will transform you into the elderly chambermaid I wish you to impersonate. Repeat to Richard the description I gave you of the imaginary chambermaid, so that he can pass it on to Halloran."

I knew better than to ask him anything concerning the preparation of Olina for the morrow's ordeal. Of course she needed no costuming, but a hundred questions were on my lips about her, questions which I held back as he started for the door.

"You understand everything now?" he asked with his hand on the knob.

Everything Is Understood

"Yes, I am sure I do," I said a bit facetiously. "Then he was gone, and Katherine and I were alone to each other with nothing standing between us."

"I feel like a heel," she said at last. "Do you go to this Ruth Hayes party, only I have more than a sneaking suspicion that you're looking forward to the experience with zest."

"You never spoke truer," I told her laughing. "To confess, I wouldn't relish entertaining her quite so much if I were to be alone with her, but with Dicky—"

"If you were Mary, you would exclaim 'Oh, boy! oh, boy!'" she said, laughing.

"I fancy I would," I said. Then I took a look at my wrist watch. "Five minutes gone of the half hour!"

"You look and sound exactly as if you were about fifteen, waiting for your first call from a boy friend—Don't you hate that expression, by the way?"

Eager to See Dicky in Action

"Loathe it!" I told her promptly. "But you can't get away from it. And I don't deny that I feel many years younger than my age, with the prospect of seeing Dicky in action."

"You may not enjoy his first action or re-action," she answered a bit dryly.

"What do you mean?" I asked, startled.

"I'll explain in words of one syllable," she replied smiling. "Have you any idea of what Dicky's going to do and say when you first spring on him that proposition of your father's that you disguise yourself as a best and elderly chambermaid with white hair? Will he go to town and across it on that one!"

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Nerve Terms.

SOME OF my readers seem to be somewhat confused by my use of the terms "nerves," "neuritis" and "neuralgia." I use them quite exactly and am pleased to make herewith an explanation.

The nervous system is an all-pervading structure which consists of a series of successively higher centers until we reach the part of the brain which has to do with thought and which controls personality. When this part of a person becomes disturbed, it is not easy to find a single word for the condition; it may affect some one way and other another way.

But a most convenient term is "nerves"; this applies to people who are apprehensive, who are restless, the people who never can sit still, those who are always making purposeless motions, as well as those who exaggerate the importance of minor events and possibly minimize the importance of major events. In other words, those who cannot obtain a fair perspective in regard to the events of life and are constantly maladjusted for that reason. Of course, it also applies to hysterical individuals.

Another word for the condition is neurasthenia, although this is going out of general use in medicine as terminology. It used to mean a tired nervous system, but as a matter of fact, most individuals to whom the term used to be applied are amply rested.

When symptoms which arise from these nervously disturbed and maladjustments are present, it is not fair to say that they are mental as we use it to give a wrong impression. It is not entirely fair to say that they are emotional. If I used the word "functional," I do not believe many of my readers would understand, so I compromise by using the word "nerves."

Now the nerves, structurally speaking, are the terminal branches, ends of the nervous system, which go out from the base of the brain and the spinal column. There are two kinds of these nerves: one is motor—those which control muscles. When such a nerve, for instance the ulnar nerve in the arm, is severed or injured, there is a paralysis of the nerve in the hand, which it supplies. This is the condition to which I usually refer as neuritis. It is not a very good term because it indicates an inflammation of a nerve, and actually may be an injury. But it is so used in medical nomenclature.

The other set of nerves is sensory. They carry impulses from the surface of the body—the skin—to the respective centers in the brain. These nerves carry impulses of touch, temperature, pain and sense of position. And the commonest disorder of these nerves is the recording of senses of pain without any adequate reason for it.

When you have a boil on the skin, or an inflammation of any kind, or a fracture of a bone, the sensory nerves carry impulses of pain, and quite properly: there is a reason for it: the impulse is protective. But in cases where there is no condition at the nerve terminus which we can find which would cause pain, we call it neuralgia. Any "algia" is a pain. Neuralgia is a term meaning the pain is due to an irritation of the nerve. This is as exact as it can be made because we do not know anything about the cause of a neuralgia, such as a facial neuralgia.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. H.—A little girl 4 years old has a left eye crossed. It has been noticed by the parents only for about six months, but others say they have noticed it before. Some neighbors say if glasses are put on her she will have to wear them all her life; some neighbors say the eye can be put in place by rubbing. Is this true?

Answer: These cases are adjusted by glasses to the extent that the person can see all right, but are never cured by glasses alone. Therefore the statement that if they start wearing glasses they will have to wear them for the rest of their life is true. Rubbing does no good, in fact, is harmful. The only permanent cure is by a slight operation on the muscles of the eye, which should be done by an oculist.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, June 19

THERE MAY be fair prospects for a certain success in this day's astrological map, albeit this encouraging state of affairs may grow from confusion, conflict and friction, by bigness and magnanimity of spirit and understanding overshadowing erratic conduct. Balance, poise, keeping on an even keel in business, finance, social and domestic affairs may bring moderate benefits and gain. It might be well to guard against harm or accident.

Those whose birthday it is have fair prospects of success in business with financial or credit gain, as well as domestic or social peace and happiness, if they will put a curb on tongue and temper. Cultivate the better nature.

A child born on this day may be difficult to understand or manage, and should be handled with firmness but kindliness or an appeal to its finer tendencies and impulses. With care it may be successful and enjoy personal happiness in its calmer and more poised life.
